MWD Prepares to Deliver Water At a Billion Gallons a Day Clip

More than one billion gallons of Colorado River water a day will soon be available to thirsty Southern California as the result of a $200 million expansion of the Colorado River Aqueduct now being carried forward by the Metropolitan Water District. The expansion program was started in 1952 and will bring the aqueduct to full capacity early in 1960. It will more than double the delivery capacity of the aqueduct. The entire expansion program is under the direction of Robert B. Diemer, the District's general manager and chief engineer.

The Metropolitan Water District, which built and operates the vital water supply line, is now engaged in one of the final major phases of the expansion work. This work entails the enlargement of Lake Mathews, the aqueduct's terminal reservoir near Riverside, from a capacity of 107,000 to 182,000 acre-feet and the construction of the canals and pipe siphons to deliver the water to the reservoir.

WHEN THE aqueduct was constructed in its initial development, certain segments were constructed to half capacity, full capacity construction being deferred until such time that additional water would be needed. Water first flowed through the aqueduct in 1941.

The aqueduct system includes the main line, 242 miles long, from the Colorado River to Lake Mathews, 10 miles southwest of Riverside, and 379 miles of large distribution lines serving Metropolitan Water District cities and areas in Southern California.

Choral Group to Sing 'Te Deum' With Beach Cities Orchestra

For the first time locally, a choral group, accompanied by full symphony orchestra, will be heard, as Composer-Conductor Louis Palange and the Beach Cities Symphony Orchestra join forces with the Manhattan Motet and Founder-leader Walter Slike to present the "Te Deum" of Anton Bruckner, Friday, June 5, at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of Redondo Union High School. The fourth and final concert of the season promises a stirring climax to the most successful year in Beach Cities' history, its officers state.

The Manhattan Motet, under the leadership of Slike, has performed many choral compositions, including Mozart's "Requiem," Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," Vivaldi's "Gloria Mass," Handel's "Messiah," and Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Slike, a church organist for 30 years, is a graduate student of music, and a member of the first A Cappella choir in Los Angeles. A past assistant conductor to choirmaster John Smallman at the University of Southern California, he also studied choral conducting and vocal technique with John Findley Williamson, of Westminster Choir School fame, and is a long-standing member of the Roger Wagner Chorale.

"I FEEL it a distinct honor to train the singers of our community for performance with our finest local orchestra," commented Slike, putting 30 voices through a rigorous two-hour rehearsal.

The solo quartet of the Manhattan Motet comprises soprano Charmion Ward, contralto Helen Fowler, tenor George Bailey, and baritone Don Ogren.

Other choral members include sopranos Betty Jane Brown, Gladys Clark, Mildred Deets, Barbara Hammer, Juanita Murphy and Nita Paschall; contraltos Millicent Cass, Marjorie George, Genevieve Kiser, Selma McKie, Lila Ogren, Colleen O'Henry, Doris Freissler, Nancy Stutz and Diana Wyman; tenors Dick Bonham, Jim Craven, Kenneth Deets, Bob Selland, Tony Tocco; and basses Marc Goodbody, Bob Hanson, Lyle Heck, Walt Kaesner and Bob Stava.

THE BRUCKNER "Te Deum" embraces the second half of the Beach Cities Symphony concert. Preceding it are the Berlioz "Roman Carnival Overture," Liszt's "Liebestraume," the "Double Concerto" for two violins and orchestra by Johann Sebastian Bach, featuring concertmaster Alex Pierce and Jack Shulman, and Ravel's "Pavane pour une infante defunte."

Musicians for this performance are provided by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Funds of the Recording Industries with the cooperation of Local 47 of the American Federation of Musicians.

Following the concert, a reception will be held, honoring all members and patrons of the Beach Cities Symphony Assn.
